CROSSFIELD, ALBERTA, FRIDAY, JANUARY 31st, 1919

PRICE $1.50 A YEAR.

WM. LAUT HARNESS REPAIRING

Getting ready for Spring work should include Repairing your Harness. The amount of that work to be done in this district is not sufficient to keep a man employed at all the seasons of the year. We try to serve the best interests of the community in this respect, but can only do so if the farmers co-operate with us by getting their repairs done during the slack season.

During the next two months our Mr. Potter will devote his entire time to shop work, and Harness Repairs entrusted to him will be executed promptly and efficiently. Later in the season we cannot guarantee prompt service.

Local and General

A. C. Redford was a visitor to town on Tuesday last.

Rev. R. K. Swenerton paid a visit to Camrose during the earlier part of the week.

Miss Nettie Potter and Ed. Fox were visitors to the city on Wednesday afternoon.

Improvements are taking place in the Union Church. The platform having been extended in length and width.

Lloyd McRory arrived home on Saturday, last having received his discharge from Military Service. We hear he intends to start up in his usual business at an early date.

We are glad to note the Flu out east seems to have run its natural course. The last victims have been seen hasting themselves in the sunshine during the week.

CHURCH OF THE ASCENSION.
Sunday, February 2nd.
10 a.m. Sunday School.

The C.P.R. Co. have sunk their well at the local stock yards 8 feet deeper, this should give the much wanted water necessary for the stock that find their way to the yards.

On Friday last, before Justice Willis, Russell James pleaded guilty of having driven his automobile on the streets in the village at night without a light. He was fined ten dollars.

A substantial fence has been put up round the local U.F.A. Lumber Yard, racks on which to pile lumber and a lumber shed completes the job, making the place look something like what a lumber yard should be.

This week has been dogs week in town, the village constable has been busy collecting dog taxes from dog owners. Fifty odd dollars were paid during last year. Judging from the number of dogs around town a similar sum should be forthcoming this year.

UNION CHURCH, CROSSFIELD.
Rev. R. K. Swenerton, B.A., B.D. Pastor.

The preaching service on Sunday night will open with a fifteen minute song period.

K. Swenerton, will preach on the subject "A Social Christianity, or Why people go to Church." The pastor will also sing a solo. Beginning a week from Sunday a series of sermons will be started on "The Meaning of Faith." The Ladies' Aid meets next Wednesday, Feb. 5th, at 3-30 p.m., at the Parsonage.

The oil pumping apparatus at the Imperial Oil Co.'s shed received a severe shaking during last week end. Two cars of oil were at the shed to be emptied, one of which was being pumped. The train switching turned a car loose, the brakes failed to act quick enough to stop its progress before it ran into the car of oil. The pumping gear was torn down to the ground. Frank was soon busy with pencil and notebook and a report was sent in soon after. The Company's carpenter has since been on the job and repaired the damage.

Died

Roscoe C. Carmichael died at his home on 342 N. 5th St., Corvallis, Oregon, on January 17th, 1919, of blood poisoning. The deceased was 37 years of age and was a young man of exemplary habits and beloved by a wide circle of friends. Roscoe, as he was familiarly known, came here from Crossfield, Alberta, where he had ranched for a number of years. He was a cattle buyer for the Corvallis Meat Co. of this city, and it was while bringing in some cattle that the accident occurred which caused his death. He leaves a wife and two young daughters Velva and Pearl, besides his aged parents Mr. and Mrs. John Carmichael of Halsey, Ore., one brother Charles of Portland, and two sisters, Mrs. Mattie Gaslin of Bell Fountain, Ore., and Mrs. Nellie Whitlatch of Monroe, Ore., all of whom were present but the brother, whose wife was seriously ill with influenza. The funeral services were held from Bovee's Undertaking Parlor, on Sunday, January 19th, at 11 a.m. The entire community extends their sympathy to the bereaved ones.

The Kaiser's Dream

Gott, Gott dear Gott, attention please,
Your partner Wilhelm's here
Und has a word or two to say
Indo your private ear;
So durn away all odders now
Und listen well to me.
For yet I say concerns me much
Meinself and Sherman.

You know dear Gott, I was your friend,
Und from mein hour of birth
I quietly let you rule the Heffen
While I ruled o'er the earth.
And von I told mein soldiers
Of by gone battle days
I gladly split the glory, Gott,
Und gif you half the praise.
In every way I try to prove
Mein heart to you was true,
Und only claimed mein honest share
In great deeds dot we do;
You could not haf a better friend
In sky, or land, or sea,
Dan Kaiser Wilhelm Number two
De Lord of Sherman.

So vat I say dear Gott is dis,
Dat ve should still be friends
Und you should help to send mein foes
To meet der bitter ends.
To yon, dear Gott, vil dis me do
I'll nothings ask again
Und you and I vill partners be
For evermore -- Amen.

But listen, Gott, it must be quick
Your help to me you words
Or else I haf to stop attack
Und only blay defendt.
So four aud twenty hours I gif
To make der Allies run
Und put mein safe into mein blace
Der middle of der Sun.

If you do dis, I'll do my best;
I'll tell the world der fact.
But if you don't den I must dink
I'd ist und hostile act
Den war ad once I must declare
Und ist mein anger rise
Und sendt mein Zeppelin ships to vage
Und fight up in der skies.

Dis unlimatum, now, der Gott,
Is von of many more
Mein mind is settled up to clean
Der whole world of der floor.
Because you was mein bardner, Got,
Und extra chance is giften,
So help at once or else
I'll be the Emperor of Heffen.

Captain—Do you see that German Capt ain on the bridge five miles away? Jack—Aye, eye sir, Captain—Then let him have one of those twelve-inch shells in the eye.
Jack—Aye, eye, sir; which eye, sir?!

The Cost of ALBERTA MUNICIPAL HAIL INSURANCE is so low that no farmer can afford to be without it---

Consider this. Over a period of five years (1914-1918). The Alberta Municipal Hail Insurance District has carried a total of $33,000,000.00 of insurance at an average premium of less than 5 2-3 per cent. During that time the average cost of operating expenses was only a trifle over five cents on the dollar. The new plan promises even better results.

As there are no profits to be made or dividends to be paid, it provides the opportunity for fair adjustment of all claims on the basis of actual damage done.

You will save money by voting for Municipal Hail Insurance at the forthcoming Election.

Lloyd George Says German Armies Are Still Powerful

London. — Demobilization demonstrations have been repeated at the war office and some of the country camps. Gen. Robertson, commander of the forces, again received a deputation and promised the men the fullest investigation of their grievances. An appeal was issued on behalf of the premier, saying Lloyd George was giving his personal attention to the matter and urging that, as the German armies still were powerful, it was necessary for Great Britain to maintain a strong army during the peace negotiations.

The men were urged to submit patiently to the inevitable inequalities and hardships. They were reminded that discipline was imperative and that the present course of the soldiers would delay and not advance demobilization.

The following is the text of the official statement issued regarding demobilization:

"The prime minister has been giving careful personal attention to the speed at which the demobilization of the army is being maintained. He considers that his first duty is to make sure that the fruits of victory which have been won by the sacrifice of so many lives and by so many brave deeds are not jeopardized by any apparent weakness on the part of Great Britain during the critical months of the peace negotiations.

"For this purpose it is imperative that we should maintain a strong army on the Rhine, and, of course, necessary services behind the front both in France and at home.

"Although the fighting has stopped, the war is not over. The German armies have not been demobilized and are still very powerful. No one can tell what the Germans will do, nor whether they will agree to the terms of peace and reparation which we seek to impose upon them: Impatience now might lose, in a few weeks, all it has taken years of heroism and sacrifice to gain.

"During the next few months we must be strong and united in order that a firm settlement may be made with the enemy and that our country may exert its proper influence among other nations at the peace conference."

West Will Fill Part of Order

Great Britain Buys Lumber Valued at Forty Millions

London. — As the outcome of negotiations carried on by the Canadian trade commission for the past month, the timber controller of Great Britain will purchase in Canada half a million standards of lumber, equivalent in the Dominion to 1,000,000,000 square feet.

The lumber, which is to be of all grades, will be bought under the direction of the lumber controller through British brokerage houses and the Canadian timber agents in London, who will deal direct with the Canadian lumber producers.

It is understood that every Canadian producer who is registered on the lists of the trade board at Ottawa will be given an equal opportunity to sell.

There is also to be an allocation of purchases upon a territorial basis, thus ensuring a fair proportion of purchases to Western Canada.

All the British Columbia lumbermen are represented here by L. C. Beale, timber commissioner for the province, who is attached to the staff of F. C. Wade, agent-general for the province in Great Britain, and he will deal directly with the lumber controller.

This lumber is to be bought within the next twelve months. It will represent a total transaction in money value of about $40,000,000.

Reverses for Bolsheviks

Washington. — Loyal Russian troops operating under the authority of the Omsk government have defeated a large Bolshevik army, capturing 31,000 prisoners and large quantities of war material, according to a telegram from the Omsk authorities to the Russian minister at Stockholm.

The message, as printed in the Swedish press, was received at the state department.

Troops Awaiting Attack

Berlin. — Spartan forces are being massed at several places where weapons and armored cars have been concentrated. In Wilhelm Strasse the government forces are awaiting an attack. Government troops have been posted on top of the Brandenburg gate and adjoining buildings with machine guns. The troops in the government buildings have been equipped with flame throwers.

The Associated Press correspondent saw a troop of about 30 Spartans, half soldiers and half civilians, all armed and having with them one machine gun, march through the Potsdam Place toward the Bolshevik gathering place.

Praise for General Haig

Does Not Lessen Gratitude to Marshal Foch

London. — Writing in the Daily News on Field Marshal Haig's report Major General Sir Frederick Maurice, former chief director of military operations at the war office, comments upon the calm with which the brilliant succession of victories which the British armies won in the autumn, was received at home.

"Our gratitude to Marshal Foch," he says, "need not be lessened if we follow his example in paying to Field Marshal Haig and the British armies the tribute which is their due. The British commander justly claims that the decisive effort of the whole campaign was the battle of Cambrai from September 27 to October 5, in which the British first, third and fourth armies broke the vast defences of the Hindenburg system."

British Staff is Already in Paris

Canadian Mission Also Has Representatives There

London. — The principals of the peace conference are gathering at Paris in readiness for the conventions of the allied powers, at the offices of the French ministry of foreign affairs. A considerable proportion of the British official staff, which is to assist the delegations, is already in Paris. The Canadian mission also has representatives there making the necessary arrangements for the convention for the Canadian party.

The whole British mission is to be housed in two large hotels, the Astoria for officers and the Majestic as a residence. Arthur J. Balfour and Lord Robert Cecil, who have charge of the British case in relation to the proposed league of nations, are already in France, and Lloyd George and Bonar Law will cross immediately after the new government is announced.

Food Conditions Improved

Restaurants in Paris are No Longer Restricted

Paris. — To the decree signed by Victor Boret, the food minister, abolishing fixed prices upon condensed milk, tapioca, macaroni and similar products, as well as on eggs, rice and beans, is added the warning that any abuse of the privileges granted under the decree will lead to the re-imposition of fixed prices.

The restaurants, under the new ruling, are no longer restricted as regards the hours during which meals may be served, nor as to the composition of the menu nor the price charged. They may now serve cheese, butter, milk and cream, which they previously had been forbidden to do. The schedule of prices, however, must still be posted outside the eating houses.

Jews As Citizens

Paris. — Rights of citizenship have been granted by Romania to all Jews born in that country, it is announced in a letter written by V. Antonesco, Romanian minister to France, to M. Rithschild.

Poles Are Defending Lemberg

German Guns and German Gunners Destroying City

Warsaw. — The Poles are making a gallant defence of Lemberg with limited means, but the Bolshevik Ukrainians, aided by German guns and German gunners, slowly are destroying the city.

The besiegers are estimated to number 50,000, commanded by former Premier Holubowicz of the Ukraine, who also was chairman of the Ukrainian peace delegation at Brest-Litovsk.

The Ukrainians threaten the water and electrical supply of the city, while food is becoming very scarce. Only a few of the civilians have been able to escape from the city owing to the poor railway service. The Polish troops are being aided in the defence of the city by many citizens of Lemberg, including girls and boys. In November the citizens aided the Poles in saving the city from the Ukrainians.

War Tax Over Fifty-eight Millions

Ottawa. — The total amount of assessments made under the business profits war tax act, to date, is over $38,000,000, of which over $34,000,000 have been collected. It is estimated that by the end of the present fiscal year about $65,000,000 will be realized. This is more than double the estimate made in the budget speech in which the business profits war tax act was introduced.

Notable Canadian War Correspondent

F. A. McKenzie

Mr. F. A. McKenzie, the war correspondent, who has come to Canada straight from the fighting front to deliver a series of lectures on the recent battles in France, is a Canadian by birth, although he has lived most of his life in Great Britain and other parts of the British empire.

MAY CALL STRIKE

To Compel Removal of Censorship Bans on Alberta

Medicine Hat, Alta. — The convention of the Alberta Federation of Labor contemplates drastic measures to compel the removal of all censorship bans on press and speech, and a majority of the delegates are prepared to go the limit of calling a general strike in sixty days.

After heated discussion the convention referred a resolution on the matter back to the resolution committee for the purpose of strengthening its phrases so as to indicate the strong feeling which pervades the convention. All elements are agreed as to the injustice of the censorship now that the war is over.

Trotzky Worked in Freight Sheds

Toronto. — The Toronto Telegram recalls the fact that Trotzky, the new sole dictator of Russia, once worked in the freight sheds of the Canadian Pacific railway at Montreal and that he has a claim against them for $14 for alleged arrears of wages, as he left without notice. Trotzky also claims the attention of Canadians in that he organized a Toronto branch of the I.W.W. when in New York.

Volunteer Mine Sweepers

London. — The agitation of crews of mine sweepers attached to the grand fleet on account of slowness of demobilization has been settled by the admiralty, which has decided that only volunteers will be engaged in sweeping mines. About 65 per cent of those engaged in mine sweeping volunteered for this service.

Opposition Bench Will Be Occupied By Labor Leaders

Cannot Trust Germany

London. — The admiralty in a statement regarding demobilization, explains the procedure which has been adopted with regard to freeing for civil life the men of the seas. It adds that it cannot be expected that complete demobilization of the navy and the restoration of the sea force to a peace footing can take place for a considerable time.

"Until the preliminaries of peace are signed," says the statement, "it is necessary to retain in home waters a portion of the grand fleet in a state of readiness to meet any eventualities."

Home Rule for India

London. — A despatch from Reuters' Delhi correspondent, announces that at the nationalist congress there a motion in favor of full provincial autonomy and against special elections for Europeans was carried by acclamation. The congress passed formal resolutions of loyalty.

London. — The British Labor party has decided to accept the responsible position of official opposition to the government. This is a landmark in British parliamentary history.

The Labor party's position as the 'largest body outside of the coalition has entitled it to this distinction and its leaders will take their seats on the front rows.

At the same time, though the Labor party has the numerical advantage, it is to be remembered that there are numerous Liberals in the coalition and that the total number of Liberal members of parliament is well in excess of the total number of Labor members.

The leader of the opposition will be William Adamson, representing West Fife, who worked as a miner for twenty-seven years. He has strongly supported the government in its prosecution of the war. John Robert Clynes, who held the office of food controller, is to be deputy leader. The withdrawal from the government in compliance with the Labor executive's decision. Both of the men are looked upon as moderates.

Three of the seven officers appointed by the Labor party, including the chairman, are miners.

U. S. Attitude Is Not Defined

Toward Treaties Between European Powers

Paris. — The attitude of the United States toward the treaty between Italy and France, Great Britain and Russia, relative to the eastern coast of the Adriatic, has not been clearly defined, as far as is known. When it came up recently, in the course of peace preliminaries, however, the United States did not indicate how it would stand when the treaty entered into consideration.

Article four of the treaty provides that the future treaty of peace will give to Italy the Trentino, the whole of Southern Tyrol, the cities of Trieste, Gorizia and Gradisca, the province of Istria and the Julian islands.

Article five gives Dalmatia and the Ionian islands to Italy. Other articles deal with Albania, Greece, in Asiatic Turkey in the case of Turkey being broken up.

Germany Unsatisfied

In Some Places People Preserve Hope of Revenge

Paris. — The correspondent of the Petit Journal writes the French armies, draws a strong contrast between the cities throughout France and Germany. France, he says, although victorious, is still bleeding from irreparable wounds, whereas vanquished Germany is repairing the havoc of defeat and bustling activity has been resumed in some of the factories.

After depicting the woes in the devastated regions, the correspondent adds: "Travelers returning from Germany, report that Germany is practically unsatisfied and in some places the people even preserve hope of revenge. Life goes on as formerly: looms are in operation, engines are humming and reconstruction work is already under way.

"In France, on the contrary, mine shafts must be consolidated and reinforced, houses and cities rebuilt and fields leveled."

German Agent Aided Mexicans

Washington. — Evidence designed to show that Francisco Villa, the Mexican bandit leader, received $380,000 worth of munitions from a German agent through the Mississippi Valley Trust Company of St. Louis in 1915 was presented to the senate committee investigating German propaganda by Major E. J. Loomer-Humes, in charge of the investigation.

Germany Paying Up

Coblenz. — Ten million marks have arrived here from Berlin by special train, this sum being the first payment by the German government of the 25,000,000 marks due in January for the expenses of the American army of occupation. The arrival of the shipment makes a total of 64,000,000 marks which has been turned over to the American authorities.

"Wait a moment! You have got to leave Daly to me. Anyhow, you're not to send your agents or the police after him until I telegraph you. I'm going to look for him by tonight's train."

"The train goes west," Hulton answered meaningly.

"It does, but if I think I'm followed," "I" spoil the trail."

Hulton's eyes flashed and his face set very hard.

"The man belongs to the gang that killed my son—and tried to blackmail his name. I don't quit until I've run the last rogue down."

"I mean to see Daly first," Foster answered doggedly.

After a moment or two Hulton made a gesture of agreement. "Very well; I allow you have a claim. But I won't interfere if my agents have already got on his track."

"I must take the risk of that," Foster replied, and left the factory a few minutes afterwards.

An Unexpected Meeting

Daly was not at Banff, and Foster, who made cautious inquiries, found nothing to indicate that he had been there. Indeed, he began to wonder the possibility of Carmen's having deceived him, but rejected "I" explanation. The girl was clever at intrigue, but he did not doubt that she had acted a part. She had really lost her self-control and told him the truth in a fit of rage. On the other hand, it was possible that she had deceived him, but there was no obvious reason for "I" doing so.

The fellow, however, was not in Banff, which is a small place, frequented mostly by tourists and invalids who come there in summer, and Foster took a west-bound train. He was once more at a loss and felt distressed. For one thing, he had no time to lose, because it would spoil his plans if Hulton's agents got on Daly's track before him.

He left Banff late at night with a ticket for Vancouver, which he had bought on speculation, partly because the sea-board was a dream, I suppose for travellers to all parts of the Pacific coast, but did not sleep now, as the heavy train rumbled through the mountains. The jolting of the cars and the roar of wheels echoed among the rocks disturbed him, and he was troubled by gloomy thoughts. "I've had promised Alice Featherstone that he would clear her brother; but he had also to clear himself, and in order to do so must find Lawrence as well as Daly." Now he had not much hope of finding either, but he cherished a vague belief in his luck, and it was unthinkable that he should neglect any chance of justifying the girl's confidence. He was ready to follow Daly round the world, sooner than lose that. The trouble was that he could not tell if he was following the fellow or not.

He went to sleep at last and getting up rather late, spent an hour or two trying to knit up broken clues and looking for a light. It was a profitless but absorbing occupation and he vacantly glanced at the majestic panorama of snowy peaks and climbing forest that rolled past the windows of the car. When his thoughts wandered from their groove he saw Alice Featherstone moving with stately calm about the Garth, or standing in the orchard with the sunset shining on her face. He recalled the race of her tall figure and how her dress harmonized with the mossy-trunks, but he could not dwell upon the look of trust in her steady eyes. Then his memories were suddenly banished for a whistle rang up the track and there was a jar of brakes.

Foster hurried out to the platform when the long train stopped and saw the conductor leading to the engineer and passengers jumping down into the snow. Pete joined him as he followed them, but he stopped for some minutes and looked about. There was no station near. The track, which was marked by cinders and stains on the snow, ran along a desolate mountainside. Dark pines that looked as if they had been dusted with icing sugar rolled in curiously rigid lines up the slope, getting smaller until they dwindled to a fine saw edge that bit into a vast sweep of white. This end of a row of jagged peaks whose summits gleamed with dazzling brightness against the blue sky. Below the track, the ground fell away to a tremendous gorge, where dark colored mist hung about a green river dotted with drifting ice. The sun struck warmly upon his face though the snow was deep.

"We'll find out why they've stopped," he said to Pete and walked toward past the cars.

The engineer, who stood on the step of the huge locomotive, had not much information to give.

"Track's gone down not far ahead; snow slide, I guess."

He shrugged when Foster asked it it would be a long job. "You can't see for yourself, if you like," he remarked, indicating a plume of smoke that rose above the pines. "There's a construction gang at work round the bend. It's a sure thing we won't spill out before your back."

Foster set off with Pete and several passengers and the Scot gazed about with a frown.

"I was born among the hills, but never have I seen ought like this," he exclaimed. "Man, it passes dream in 'o'; it's just stupendous! But I wouldn't say 'th' track' much 'o' farming her."

"They have some bench tablelands and pretty rich alluvial valleys," Foster answered with a smile. "The province depends largely on its minerals."

Pete glanced back up the track that wound down between rock and forest from a distant notch in the high, frozen mountain.

"I'm thinking the men who built you line had stout hearts."

"It wasn't an easy job," Foster agreed. "They were up against savage Nature, and she's still too strong for the engineer now and then, as I expect you'll shortly see."

They walked through a gap in the pines and stopped with a sense of awe on the edge of a great red furrow in the mountain. The gash was fringed by shattered trees, and here and there a giant splintered trunk rested precariously among stones rounded to fragments. Far beneath a vast pile of earth and snow dammed the river, and half way up an overturned locomotive, with boiler crushed like an eggshell, lay among the wreckage. The end of a smashed box car rose out of the boiling flood. For a hundred yards the track had vanished, but gangs of men were hurrying to and fro about the gap. Farther back, there was the clang of banging-down rails and a ringing of hammers.

"If they open the road again by tomorrow morning, they'll be lucky,"

WHAT SOLDIERS WANT.

A suggestion to those who are sending gifts to soldiers overseas comes from Lt.-Col. (Canon) Frederick George Scott, First Division, in a cable received by friends in Montreal. He says "The men want playing cards and chewing tobacco."

"Ever-lastingly Good"

Foster remarked, and stopped a big fellow who was going past with an ax on his shoulder. "Is there any settlement not too far ahead?"

"There's a smart new hotel at the flag station about six miles out," said the man. "You can make it all right walking if you keep to the track and watch out you don't use the construction train in the snow-drifts."

Foster, who knew he would find waiting tedious, went back to the cars for his small bag, after which he and Pete set off for the hotel. They had some time to creep along the path of the avalanche and then spent some time getting past the men who were unloading a row of flat cars. The single line track was cut out of the rock and one ran a great gilaading down to the river, its venturing outside its edge. Once, indeed, a heavy beam, thrown too far, plunged down like a toboggan, and leaping from the rock's crest splashed into the flood. The men on the car worked in furious haste, and it was difficult to avoid the clanging rails they threw off.

Foster got past, but did not find walking easy. He had done so. The track wound among the folds of the hills, and where the sun had struck the snow there was a slippery crust, through which he broke. When it ran past tall crags and between the trees, the snow was dry and loose as dust. They made something out of the snow in the first hour and soon afterwards came to the mouth of a snowfield. The opening made a dark blotch on the glittering slope, for the roof was piled up a very small angle to the declivity and the snow passed down hill over it with scarcely a wrinkle. It was only when they entered they saw signs of man's work in the massive beams and stringers that braced the structure.

They were presently lost in the gloom and Foster stumbled among the tica Shingle ballast rolled under his feet, where he found a tie to step on. He was generally by stubbing his toe, and once or twice he struck the side of the shield.

For all that, he pushed on as fast as possible. The warning he had been given was indefinite, but it looked as if a train was shortly expected and the locomotive, with its outside cylinders, would not give them much room. He imagined that refugees would be provided at intervals, but did not know where to find them. Now and then they stopped to listen but heard nothing. There was deep silence, which was a relief, and they blundered on again as fast as they could. It was rather daunting work and one could not make much speed, but when a faint muffled throbbing reached them they began to run.

Foster had no means of guessing the length of the shed, and as he slipped among the ballast looked anxiously in front, to find a sea of glimmering patch of light he expected. The darkness was impenetrable, but the contour of the hillside had indicated that the shed was curved, and the outlet might be nearer than he thought. In the meantime the sweat ran down his face and his breath came hard. He was in good condition, for his journeys among the Scottish hills had strengthened his muscles, but the footing was bad among the stones, and he labored through them awkwardly with steep lips and clenched hands. He thought of throwing away his heavy coat, but it would take a few moments to get it off and he must put down the bag, in which were papers he might need. By and by his foot struck something and lurching forward he lost his balance and came down heavily. The blow shook him and he was a little slow in getting up until he felt a rail he put his hand on. He scrambled to his feet, but could not find the bag.

"I hate," said Pete, who seized his arm and urged him forward.

A deep morning reached them and a tie he trod on trembled, but as he ran savagely with labored breath there was a elusive glimmer in the dark ahead. It grew brighter, an irregularly-shaped white patch appeared, and making a tense effort with the ballast rolling beneath his feet, he staggered into the sunshine. Then with a gasp of keen relief he threw himself upon the snow beside the tracks.

About a hundred yards away, a giant locomotive toiled up the incline hurling out clouds of smoke that streamed far back among the pines. The road bed shook and the hillside rang with the din of wheels. While Foster lay panting, the locomotive labored past, and then long, flat cars, on which men sat upon the load of jarring rails, changed by the black mouth of the shed swallowed them, a cloud of smoke and dusty snow curled about the opening, and the uproar suddenly sank to a muffled rumble. This died away and the deep silence of the mountains was emphasized by the sound of the river.

"We were not much too soon," Foster said with a breathless laugh. "Now I come to think of it, there's no obvious reason we shouldn't have stopped on board the train and got our lunch comfortably. I seem to have a habit of doing unusual and unnecessary things; it's curious how soon you get into trouble when you indulge a bent like that."

"You've a verve remark," Pete agreed. "It's a rough and thorny world, and if ye will not walk in the cleared paths, but gang yere air gait ye must struggle with the briars."

"And scramble through snowsheds? You Scots are a philosophical lot. But do you call poaching sticking to the beaten path?"

"I'm thinking it's as near it as straggling through the Forder mosses, when ye might gang by train."

"A 'air hit! But after all, man wears the regulation paths so deep that he can't get out when he wants. What about the pioneers, who blaze the new trails? Aren't they needed?"

"Whites, maybe," Pete answered grinning. "For a' that, they maun take the consequences. Do ye feel it's yere business to break a new road?"

"Certainly not! I'm not a philanthropist and would be quite satisfied with making things a little easier for myself and my friends, but am much afraid I haven't succeeded yet. In fact, there's one friend in England who's very far from grateful. But the question is—why did I leave the train?"

"Ye must felt ye had to?"

"I think I did. But why did I feel it?"

Pete chuckled. "There ye have me! This I ken; whiles when I had a hare or a fen palting in the lining o' my coat and can't to a slap in a dyke, I had a kind o' feeling you was no road for me. I couldn't tell there was a keeper hiding on the other side, but I didna' gang. Maybe it's better no' to argue but follow yere heart."

"No," said Foster. "I imagine it's really better to follow your head. In the meantime, Pete, had no lunch and think we'll get on."

They came to a wide hollow in the hills where the snow was deep and loose. The sun was shut out and the frost was keen, while Foster saw that the afternoon was wearing on. A glance at his watch showed that he had been walking for nearly three hours, but there was no sign of the hotel. Dark masses of trees ran up from the water to the line of summer, snow, and no roof or curl of smoke broke their sombre monotony. High above, the peaks glittered with a steely brightness that seemed to intensely the cold.

Their breath hung about them as they plodded on, but at length, when they came to the middle of the bend, where the hills curved out again, there was a break and they stopped at the end of a bridge. The low sun shone into the gap which was profoundly deep and majestically beautiful. On its farther side, tremendous crags held up the snow, which trickled down their faces in thin grey streaks and stretched back above, steeped in soft blue shadow. On Foster's side, giant pines glimmered a bright green in the warm light, running up to a glittering slope that ended in two rugged peaks, and a river that sprang from a wrinkled glacier foamed through the dusky gorge. Where a small clearing had been cut in the forest, steep red roofs stood out in harmonious contrast with the green of the fir, and a picturesque wooden building with gables and verandahs occupied the greater part of the opening.

"If the place is as attractive inside it's worth the wait," Foster remarked. "You appreciate your quarters, best when you've had some trouble to get there."

"I'm thinking that's true: The peat fire and the auld rush chair in the bit parlour are worth worth anything when ye come through the rain and wind over the dark moss. This is a gran count'ry, but it's no' like thatither among the Border fells!"

Will Visit United States

Paris. — President Pointe. will probably visit the United States late in July or early in August. This announcement was made by the president himself to the Associated Press.

Heart Palpitated
Could Count Every Beat

When the heart begins to palpitate, it will beat fast for several seconds, then slow, then start to flutter, and a feeling of utter depression will come over your whole system, accompanied by weak, fainting and dizzy spells.

When the heart gets into this condition, you become weak, worn and miserable, and are unable to attend to either social, business or household duties.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will give prompt and permanent relief to all sufferers from any heart weakness or nerve derangements. "I have been run down, and doctors told me I was anemic, but did not help me with their medicines. I could not sleep nights, my heart palpitated so, and I could count every beat."

I used to have such dizzy spells I would have to go to bed. I was not able to do any work for six months. A cousin of mine had taken Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and told me what they had done for her. I took eight boxes of them, and now I am able to help every day with the work. I am so thankful to tell others what they have done for me, so that they may try this great and wonderful remedy. I hope this may prove good to some one who is suffering the way I suffered.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Whole-Hearted Reception To Pres. Wilson in Britain

London. — The greatest moment of President Wilson's first day in England was when he stood with the King and Queen and Mrs. Wilson in the balcony of Buckingham palace, facing a multitude which stretched clear down the Mall to the admiralty, half a mile distant, and overflowed St. James' park on one side and Green park on the other. Only the corporal's guard could hear the president's brief speech, but the people demanded that he show himself and gave him a greeting more clamorous than any other guest of the nation has commanded within the memory of the oldest Londoners.

The day's events constituted a tribute to the president. The official welcome—a reception by the navy, the welcome at the station by the royal family, and the chief officials of the empire; the state passage through the heart of London—were colored with touches of mediæval pageantry (even to the crimson coated footmen from the Tower, bearing halberds) which the British people cherish.

That the central figure of the royal procession in quaint state carriages, attended by a military escort and household officials, should be a civilian wearing a black coat and silk hat, gave a flavor of novelty to the scene. It was a gathering principally of the people. It was a diverse and picturesque throng such as few capitals can muster, with a large element of soldiers, among whom the colonials and Americans seemed popular, a detachment of wounded from the hospitals, attended by nurses, getting a full share of the cheers.

The popularity of the King and Queen was again testified to by the vastness given them, while driving to the station to meet the president. Every one agreed that London has never known another such demonstration, except on great national days when the British people have celebrated the inauguration of a new reign, or a milestone of the old. It is estimated that two million people crowded the two miles of streets through which the state procession passed. These were crowded with flags and bunting, and, amid the clashing of the saluting cannon, the president of the United States received a popular welcome almost unprecedented in history.

London was not satisfied with the tumultuous greeting accorded during the ceremonial drive to Buckingham palace, where the president and Mrs. Wilson are staying as the guests of the King and Queen. Some 200,000 people, completely filling the huge semi-circular assembling place facing the palace, cheered incessantly until half an hour after his arrival, when the president appeared on the balcony behind the king. They were followed by the queen, waving a small American flag and Mrs. Wilson, who carried a Union Jack, Princess Mary and the Duke of Connaught. So prolonged and intense was the cheering that the president, showing great composure, thanked, in a few words, the citizens of London for their great welcome.

Food Hoarded by Ex-Kaiser

Took No Chance of Going Hungry Himself

London. — "How William II Held Out" is the heading of the Berliner Tageblatt given to a report describing the stocks of food found in the Kaiser's castle in Berlin.

As member of the Berlin workers' and soldiers' council, Wilhelm Carls inspected the castle in which, until the revolution broke out, William II resided. Carls was especially interested in the castle's food supplies. The Frankfurt Volksstimme is quoted for the following particulars of Carls's account:

"I requested those on duty to show me His Majesty's provisions, those, be it observed, of the imperial private household, not of the court, which is regarded as a state institution. I was readily shown a large store, two rooms. I expected to find a store, but what I saw there surpassed all my expectations. Here, in large white-tiled rooms, was everything, really everything, one can possibly conceive in the way of food.

"No, I must correct myself. One cannot conceive that after four years of war such enormous quantities of food could be stored. Preserved meat in great cans, white flour in sacks piled up to the high ceilings, thousands of eggs, gigantic basins of hard, coffee, tea, chocolate, jellies and preserves of every kind arranged in apparently endless rows. Hundreds of blue sugar loaves, bags of peas and beans, dried fruits, biscuits, etc. One is speechless, and involuntarily thinks of the old jest that the quantities were so great that one man alone car not form any idea of them. The value of the stocks amounts to several hundred thousand marks.

"Were it not that these food supplies are needed for better employment at the moment, I should like to suggest that they should remain undisturbed in a national museum as an everlasting token to the German people in order that their children and their children's children might still see how in Germany, while millions starved, those by the grace of God, held out."

Sir Douglas Haig's Escort

London. — Sir Douglas Haig, when returning to England, sailed on the Belgian hospital ship Van Breckel instead of His Majesty's ship Terminus, as previously arranged, and was escorted by destroyers and a squadron of aeroplanes. The guard of honor at Dover consisted of searchers from the monitors Terror and Eclipsa, and of men of the royal light infantry.

Europe Asks For Meat

Secretary of the Chicago Live Stock Show Calls for New Policy

"I see a real danger," said R. M. Hyde, secretary of the International Live Stock Show. "Farmers throughout the country have been working to raise grains. They have neglected their cattle. Now they pay the penalty."

"Europe is asking for meat, and will continue to do so for a considerable time. South American cattle breeders have lost stock through foot and mouth diseases and drought. A big demand for beef products is approaching—how will it be satisfied?"

"The only remedy is for farmers at once to turn their energies to raising more cattle. There is ample grain to feed them, and transportation facilities will probably be adequate for all immediate needs."

Tragedy of Austria

Forced to Depend on Germany for Restoration

Vienna. — The only bright spot in the "tragedy of Austria" was the release of the country from the Hapsburgs, which should be restored, declared Karl Seitz, leader of the German Socialists in Austria and president of the national assembly of German Austria, in an interview here. The future of Austria, he said, was especially tragic, he said, because she had been accused wrongfully of kindling the war. History would prove, he declared, that the German-Austrians had no expansive aspirations against the Slavs and that they had opposed the action which started the war.

A federation of nations, comprising Austria-Hungary perhaps would be desirable in the interests of capitalists, he continued, but such a thing was impossible for a long time, not only because the Czechs-Slovaks were fighting against the Germans, but owing to the difficulties of arranging custom customs, finance and traffic systems to say nothing of the difference of language. German-Austria, however, cannot exist alone, because of her geographical position and because the armies of traffic united her with south Germany and thence with all of Germany, upon whom Austria, with her needs for coal and capital, is dependent for her restoration.

POLICEWOMEN IN LONDON

Will Be Drilled in Law Relating to Their Duties

London. — London is to have an official force of 100 policewomen. The home office has sanctioned the scheme and the women will be enrolled at once.

Although the women will not be sworn in as men are, they will be drilled and instructed in the law relating to their duties.

They will have a woman superintendent, inspectors and sergeants.

The uniform is to be puttees, skirt and tunic of the regulation blue, with a cap to match. The chief beats will be the Strand and leading West End thoroughfares, and several will be posted in the metropolitan districts. Their duties will relate mainly to women offenders and the condition of the streets.

Wages will range from $10 weekly for privates to $15 for inspectors, and the hours will be eight per day or night.

German Constitution Similar to U.S. Berlin. — The constitution for the German republic, drawn up by a committee headed by Hugo von Praeger, secretary of the interior, follows closely the general plan of the American constitution, it was announced.

The central and state governments will bear exactly the same relationship to each other as obtains in the United States. The president's powers will be somewhat more restricted than those of the American executive. The legislative body will be composed of an equal number of representatives from all the proposed 14 states. A union of German Austria with Bavaria is planned in the outline of the supplementary program submitted by Herr von Bismarck.

A statesman makes the occasion, but the occasion makes the politician.—G. S. Hillard.

American Admiral's Tribute To the British Grand Fleet

New York. — The adventures of the American overseas fleet in attempting to bait the German ships to combat; how a U-boat had rammed his super-dreadnought and how every effort to lure the enemy from its base, was paid by Rear Admiral Hugh Rodman on the flagship New York. It was he who commanded the American battle division in the grand fleet under Sir David Beatty.

In the words of the admiral, the submarine ran amuck, dented the ship's plates, smashed a propeller blade, and undoubtedly was sent to the bottom at the next turn of the screw.

The admiral said: "It is needless, in fact, superfluous for me to reiterate that which is known and recognized throughout the civilized world, namely, that it was the grand fleet which has been the very backbone of the structure which has made a victorious peace a certainty. Without it, there is no question that the war long ago would have been disastrous, if concluded, with just the reverse conditions obtaining from those which now exist."

"No mention can be made of the grand fleet, without our thoughts naturally turning to its commander-in-chief, Admiral Sir David Beatty, a man of rare accomplishments, a natural born, tried, trusted and gallant leader."

"Under him our combined forces operated, just as later, all of the allied armies were placed under the direction or command of Marshal Foch."

"And now as to our operations with the grand fleet. It need be only said for me to say that when we joined, at once, thanks to our home training, able to co-ordinate and co-operate with the British fleet."

Denies Huns Were Ill-Treated

Magistrates Who Condemned Alsations to Prison Were Arrested

Paris. — The first convoy of German civilians has left Muthouse. Each person was allowed to carry out 40 pounds of baggage. They were transported away from the city by automobiles.

The Temps prints a reply from Strasbourg to a Wolff bureau despatch, which declared that Germans remaining in Alsace had been badly treated by the French authorities. The reply denies the statement categorically, saying:

"The Germans were in no molested. Not a single German was sent to Belgium or France. The French authorities, in response to the unanimous demands of the Alsatian population, merely arrested and incarcerated certain Germans who had shown marked hatred to the Alsatians during the war, such as magistrates who presided at exceptional courts, Judge Aaron at the head, who condemned Alsatians to prison with hard labor."

SHOULD HELP RUSSIA'S COAST DISTRICTS

London. — Limited intervention in Russia and military assistance only in those districts where genuine democracy has been established, is urged by the Chronicle in a special article.

The Chronicle declared that the fullest economic help should be given to the frontier and coast districts. It asked for passage and news restrictions be removed in order that trade and political information may be exchanged with Russia. The Chronicle is Premier Lloyd George's personal organ.

Mounted Police Organization

Force Will Be Recruited Up To Strength of 1,200

Ottawa. — The headquarters of the new mounted police force in Manitoba will be Winnipeg. This decision has been reached.

Headquarters for southern Saskatchewan will be Regina, which will also continue to be the general headquarters. Of northern Saskatchewan, Prince Albert will be the headquarters; of southern Alberta, Lethbridge; of northern Alberta, Edmonton; of British Columbia, Vancouver; of the Yukon, Dawson, Macleod, Battleford, Maple Creek and Peace River will be remain as outposts. There will be no post at Calgary. Northwest Ontario will be included in the Manitoba district. Northern Saskatchewan will include part of northern Manitoba, south Alberta will take in east Kootenay, the southeastern corner of British Columbia and along the main line of the C.P.R. as far as the Upper Columbia river, northern Alberta will include part of the British Columbia east of the Rockies. The force will be recruited up to strength of 1,200.

Relief for Belgium

Additional Ships Will Be Required to Carry Food

Washington. — Physical damage wrought in Belgium by the German armies is described in a cablegram received by the food administration, (Herbert C. Hoover, director). William B. Poland, European director of the commission for relief in Belgium, has just completed a survey of conditions in this liberated country.

On the basis of Mr. Hoover's report the food administration announced that hereafter 180,000 tons of supplies, including clothing, would be shipped to Belgium each month. As this program will require 16,000 despatch, tons of shipping in addition to the 340,000 tons now on order to the relief commission, application for additional tonnage has been made to the shipping board.

Not Concerned About Russia

Allies Must Look After Affairs in

Paris. — "All the belligerents have accepted the president's fourteen points, and the only question to be discussed is their interpretation," said Count von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States in giving his opinion of what Germany's attitude would be at the peace conference, according to the Geneva correspondent of the Matin.

"Germany," declared the count, "will keep to the president's program which grants each people of an ethical group the right to dispose of itself."

Asked if he thought the president's program would furnish the basis for a lasting peace, Count von Bernstorff shrugged his shoulders.

"This is the only one which can be proposed at present," he added, "and this attempt must be made to apply it. At any rate we shall support it."

When he was asked by the correspondent what attitude Germany would adopt toward the east, he replied: "All the questions concerning the new states which have sprung up on the Russian fronts are the affairs of the allies. Let them disentangle themselves as best they can. We wish our share of Russia. We are content to safeguard as far as possible the integrity of our territory, consulting at the same time the will of the people."

Asked about the White Book which Carl Kautsky is said to be preparing in Berlin, Count von Bernstorff said: "I don't think the book will reveal the individual responsibilities of persons who directed Germany in 1914. It will rather show the collective faults of the regime."

"I do not favor handing over the Kaiser to the allies. A sovereign is not responsible for the government."

Fix Prices in Australia

Melbourne. — Following the example of Great Britain and the United States, Australia has summoned business experts to assist in the adjustment of price fixing. They will be in an advisory capacity, and will of great assistance in solving intricate business problems. The committee will aid Mr. Massey, the minister in charge of pricing.

Threatened With Paralysis

Severe Nervous Headaches and Numbness of Hands and Feet Was Most Alarming, But Satisfactory Restorative Treatment was Found

Port Hancey, B. C., Jan. 15.—This very interesting statement from Mrs. Sinison in regard to her case is vouched for by her pastor, Rev. G. H. Findlay. Hers was a most extreme case of nervous exhaustion and the symptoms, pointing toward paralysis, were most alarming. Fortunately, however, she had heard of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food while yet there was time to stop the building-up-process, and by the persistent use of this food cure has obtained restoration.

Mrs. H. Sinison, Port Hancey, B.C., writes: "I have been very sick with nervousness, and this trouble seemed to settle in my head. I had nervous headaches, numbness in my head, and also in my hands and feet. I had a pain around my heart all the time. I read in Dr. Chase's Almanac about the Nerve Food, and the first box I took helped me. This treatment has been of great benefit to me, and it is the only thing that had done me any good."

Rev. G. H. Findlay, Port Hancey, B.C., also writes: "This is to certify that I know Mrs. Sinison, and vouch for the facts as stated above."

Here is another letter of special interest to persons suffering from nervous headaches:

Mr. Ernest Page, Killarney Lake, Alta., writes:

"I want to tell you how much good Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has done me. I suffered from severe headaches, from which I could get no relief. I went to doctors, but they gave me some pills, but they didn't do me any good. Finally I turned to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and he gave me a box of two boxes completely cured me." Certificate to be signed by Dr. Roy, J.P., Chabon, Alta. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box; a full treatment of six boxes for $2.75 at all dealers. Edmondson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto. ## Would Be Great Blow to Berlin

Capture of Bentschen Would Cut Communication With Silesia

Berlin.—Polish troops have occupied the railway station at Chroschlik, four miles from Bentschen and have sent an ultimatum to the German commander in the latter place, demanding that he surrender. The demand has been refused and the Germans will defend Bentschen at all costs, according to the Tagblatt.

Bentschen is a town near the boundary between the provinces of Posen and Brandenburg.

Capture of Bentschen by the Poles would be most serious for Berlin and all of northern Germany. Its loss to the Poles would cut communication between Berlin and Silesia and would endanger the provisioning of Frankfurt-on-the-Oder and all of northern Germany.

The cabinet completed its consideration of the Polish situation and directed the ministry of war to take the necessary technical steps to strengthen the eastern frontier. Although there have been completed, which will probably be next week, the cabinet will probably appeal to the people to form a volunteer army to protect the German borders.

A Power of Its Own.—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil has a subtle power of its own that other oils cannot pretend to, though there are many pretenses. All who have used it know this and keep it by them as the most valuable liniment available. Its uses are innumerable and for many years it has been prized as the leading liniment for man and beast.

Establish Canadian Credit in France

Negotiations Were Opened Upon Signing of Armistice

Ottawa.—With reference to the matter of Canadian credits to be available for the purchase of commodities in Canada required for the rebuilding and reconstruction of France, it is stated officially that immediately after the signing of the armistice negotiations were opened by the minister of finance with representatives of the French government in the U. S. looking to the establishment of such credits. The matter was placed before the French government for consideration. It is reported that the members of the Dominion government now overseas are the representatives of the Canadian trade mission who are about to visit Paris, will be able to complete arrangements at an early date. The government here has cabled all necessary information as to terms of the proposed credit.

British May Use Waterways

Dutch Allow Transport for Provisions Not Including Munitions

London.—The Dutch government according to an official announcement made has not favorably the request of the British government that facilities be granted for the transport of provisions for troops of occupation in Germany through Dutch waterways, particularly the Scheldt, and for the use of this river for the passage of demobilized troops returning home.

The Dutch government, in negotiating, said it had no objection to such transport, provided that it should not be regarded as a precedent.

It was stipulated that the transport should be made under the commercial flag of Great Britain, that it should not include munitions, that only officers should carry arms and that the Dutch government should be informed in advance of the intended passage of each transport.

Chaos Threatens Europe

Tide Can Be Stemmed Only by Early Peace

London.—The past week has witnessed a strong and general demand from the most influential British newspapers, regardless of politics, for the prompt meeting of the peace conference and prompt action to stem the tide of chaos which is threatening Germany because of the introduction of Bolshevism by way of the border states.

There is a dawning recognition that if anarchy seizes Central Europe, the decisions of the peace conference in drawing boundaries and levying indemnities can be enforced only through military control by the allies and the agreements otherwise becoming merely "scraps of paper."

Confession on East

Paris.—New problems having arisen in the east, following allied occupation of parts of Hungary, Turkey, Russia and Bulgaria, the French government has summoned General Louis Franchet d'Espèrey, commander of allied forces in Macedonia, to Paris, for a conference, says Marcel Hutin, of the Echo de Paris. The general is expected to arrive in Paris in a few days.

SERIOUS ILLNESS AVOIDED

Many a serious illness has been avoided by the prompt use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills actually cure, purify the blood, and in this way build up the system, tone and strengthen the nerves and invigorate the vital organs.

Serious diseases generally come from some simple disorder that has been neglected. Therefore any thinning of the blood should be looked upon as a warning sign, and more serious illness should be avoided by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In the case of young girls and women the blood is peculiarly liable to break out of order—to become thin and watery—and to lead to a general breakdown in health. This can be avoided by the occasional use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which are suitable for the most delicate constitution. These pills will give you a new appetite, improve your digestion, tone and strengthen weakened nerves, banish depression and lack of energy, clear the complexion of pimples and blotches, cure pain in the back and general weakness, cause the disappearance of headaches, dizziness and heart fluttering. Give these pills a fair trial, and you will soon note a wonderful change in your condition. Your spirits will brighten, good health and strength will return, and you will feel like a new person. You can confirm these statements by enquiring among your friends almost everywhere that thousands and thousands of hopeless sufferers have been restored to new health and energy by using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Maples for Canadian Graves

London.—Canadian graves in France, very shortly, be planted with maples. A fine stock of seedlings have been raised at the Royal Botanical Gardens. They were grown from seeds obtained from the Dominion horticulturist at Ottawa. These have been sent to France.

Want All Huns Released
London.—The German government has instructed its armistice commission at Spa to request the allies to release all interned Germans, according to an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Amsterdam.

Cause of Asthma. No one can say with certainty exactly what causes the establishing of asthmatic conditions. Dust from the street, from flowers, from grain and various other irritants may set up a trouble impossible to eradicate except through a sure remedy such as Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. Uncertainty may exist as to cause, but there can be no uncertainty regarding a remedy which has freed a generation of asthmatic victims from this scourge of the bronchial tubes. It is sold everywhere.

Sincerely Mourned Throughout Canada

Death of Col. Roosevelt Loss to Humanity at Large

Ottawa.—"He was a great world figure of unique and commanding personality," said Sir Thomas White, acting prime minister, referring to the death of ex-President Roosevelt. "We are all greatly shocked and grieved." Sir Thomas went on, by the news of the sad and unexpected death of Col. Theodore Roosevelt and his loss is a loss not only to the United States, but to humanity at large. No man did more in the early and critical stages of the war to mobilize the moral forces of the world against Germany, or to range public opinion in neutral countries on the side of the allies. He will be sincerely mourned throughout the British empire and in no part of it more than in Canada, where he was greatly admired and towards which he always cherished the most friendly and neighborly feeling. He was a real man, if ever there was one, and the whole world is poorer for his loss.

To his widow and the members of his family all our hearts go out in deepest sympathy."

Claims World Saved by Britain

Tribute Paid by James R. Day of University of Syracuse

Toronto.—That Great Britain saved the world is the tribute paid by James R. Day, chancellor of the University of Syracuse, in a letter received by Sir John Eaton. One paragraph of his letter follows:

"There is not a shadow of doubt that Great Britain saved the world. We did our little part, but without Great Britain we would have been fatally too late, while, without us, Great Britain would have forced the thing to victory, but we all rejoice together now. I hope that our president and the peace delegates will have wisdom enough to be guided by the thousand years of diplomacy that Great Britain will furnish them."

Found Subs Under Construction
London.—One hundred and seventy submarines, all under construction, were found when the inter-allied naval commission visited Germany to make arrangements for the carrying out of the terms of the armistice, according to newspapers here. These U-boats, it is said, will be turned over to the allies.

It Works! Try It

Tells how to loosen a sore, tender corn, so it lifts out without pain.

Good news spreads rapidly and druggists here are kept busy dispensing freestone, the other discovery of a Cincinnati man, which is said to loosen any corn so it lifts out with the fingers.

Ask at any pharmacy for a quarter ounce of freestone, which will cost very little, but is said to be sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You apply just a few drops on the tender, itching corn and instantly the soreness is relieved, and soon the corn is so shriveled that it lifts out without pain. It is a sticky substance which dries when applied and never inflames or even irritates the adjoining tissue.

This discovery will prevent thousands of deaths annually from lockjaw and infection heretofore resulting from the suicidal habit of cutting corns.

No German Army

Basel.—The former German army has ceased to exist, says the Nord Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, of Berlin as 150 divisions already have been demobilized. The demobilization of the other units, the paper says, is proceeding rapidly.

German Officers Return

Capetown, Cape Colony.—The steamer Field Marshal, requisitioned by the authorities, will, it is stated, proceed to Delagoa Bay and take on board all those German officers and men from East Africa, who surrendered after the armistice, and bring them to Europe.

The German commander, General von Lettow Vorbeck, may be among the number.

Obituary

The very sad death of Mrs. Fred Turnbull, of Cremona (Margaret Laut) occurred last week Wednesday January 22nd, from pneumonia following influenza.

Mrs. Turnbull and two small daughters were visiting friends and relatives in the community, when she contracted the disease which caused her death.

She leaves a husband, two children, as well as a father and mother, and five brothers to mourn their loss.

Her parents Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Laut, old timers of this district, are at present residing in Victoria, B.C.

The interment took place at the Crossfield Cemetery on Friday, January 24th, the services being conducted by the Rev. R. K. Swenerton, of the Union Church.

Mrs. Turnbull was much beloved by all who knew her for her very sweet and kindly disposition, and many other sterling qualities.

Much sympathy is felt for her sorrowing relatives and friends at their sad loss.

Installation of Officers of Crossfield Lodge No. 48 A.F. & A.M.

At a special meeting held in the Masonic Hall, on Tuesday evening last, M.W. Rev. Bro. Rex Brown, of Calgary, Grand Chaplain of Alberta; duly installed the Officers of Crossfield Lodge No. 48, A.F. & A.M. The following brethren were installed for the year W.M., S. Willis, S.M., H. McPhee, J.W., I. Lewis, Treas. J. Cavander, Secy., H. E. G. H. Scholefield, Tyler, Geo. McLeod, S.D., A. Adams, S.S., R. W. McFarlane, J.S., J. Matheson, M.C., D. Outkes.

In the opinion of the brother brethren the installation ceremony was the most interesting and complete in the history of the Crossfield Lodge.

POOR BIRD.

"You're a swindler!" exclaimed a garrulous lady to a dealer in birds. "You're worse than a highway robber! You ought to be ashamed of yourself for cheating a poor innocent woman the way you did! That parrot I bought of you last week is a fraud. You said it was a fluent talker, and you charged me a big price for him, too, and that bird hasn't said a single word since I got him. Not one word! Do you hear?"

"Perhaps," suggested the dealer, mildly, "you haven't given him a chance!"

TWO FAIRIES.

Two fairies there are who live everywhere and working together can do everything. They can give rest to the weary, health to the sick and smiles and laughter to the saddest.

They perform the hardest tasks easily and cheerfully. It gives them pleasure to help you do difficult things, and they give up their most cherished things for others. They are almost always present whenever there are lovers, they are almost always present at a wedding and when God sends a baby into the world.

These fairies help found homes. They help build cities and make people go to new countries. The fairies are as old as the earth, but as young as the tiniest babies. They are as wise as the oldest man and as good as the youngest child. It is through their goodness that they can be and do all the things that are mentioned, and even more. For the fairies are Hope and Love.
